

Katy Orr-Dove

Orr's Orchards
Martinsburg, WV

“Agriculture has given me opportunities to be an entrepreneur and to share the fruits of my family’s labor with my community. I believe women are so important to agriculture because of their versatility, creativity and persistence. Women know what farm products people want, find a way to produce them, and then market these products in their own special way. Women also tend to be enthusiastic and optimistic about their farm enterprises, which gets the consumers excited about agriculture.”