Beef Cattle Farm Operator
Rocking P Farm
Lewis County

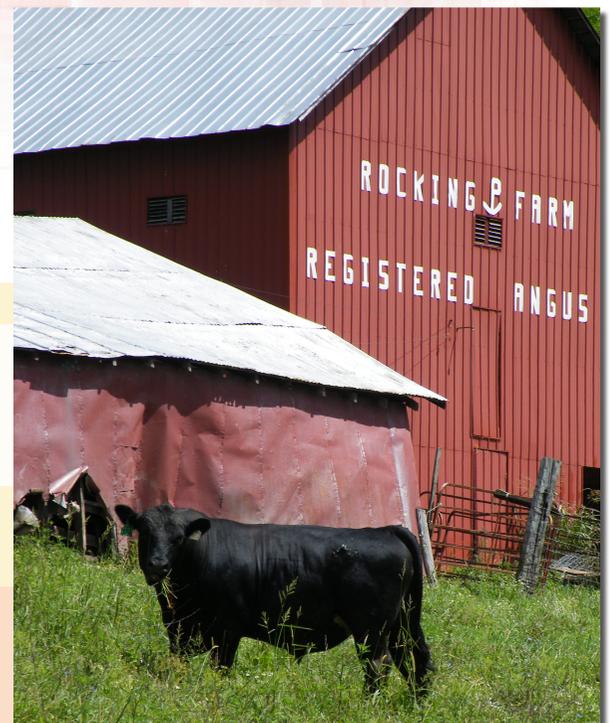

I am proud to be a woman associated with agriculture. I was raised on a farm with Hereford cattle, a family operation in western Lewis

County. 4-H was also a family affair and I enjoyed showing calves at the round-up.

Money was scarce in those days, but living close to Glenville, I was able to commute to and graduate from Glenville State College.

Through 4-H I met and later married my husband Don a farmer 56 years ago. I am able to continue to work in agriculture with registered Angus cattle. The really good ones cost a bit more but they return more also.

Whether its wrapping hay bales, vaccinating cattle or helping repair fences, its all been good. I enjoy working with the granddaughters with their beef projects, working with the Beef Expo and the WV Angus association.

Being able to be out among God's beautiful creations is a wonderful thing. I thank God, my husband and my family for the wonderful opportunity to be a woman in ag.
